THERE is an air of restfulness and peace about this pleasant summer garden. The comfortable house, the covered terrace, the sloping lawns, the change of level, and the colorful borders of flowers all combine to make a pleasing picture. In short, every successful garden is the result of such pleasing harmony and is brought about by careful planning with special attention to the needs of the home-owner.

What with the present war crisis and the restrictions which it will naturally place upon us, we must turn to some source for inspiration and relaxation. Surely, there is no pleasanter and easier way in which to relax than in your own garden. Let's garden enthusiastically and vigorously this year. To be sure, we all believe that "food will win the war and write the peace" but flowers will help materially—so let's garden for better morale.

WE HOPE that you use and enjoy your garden as much as you do your house. After all, the relation between these two parts of your home-grounds is truly important. A garden is not merely a place where plants grow and bloom and flourish; it is really the outdoor room of your home. It can be a place where you can spend many pleasant hours—working, playing, eating, relaxing and entertaining.

A well-placed tree on the front lawn provides shade and helps to frame this attractive doorway. Shapely evergreens are used on either side of the entrance and a simple flag walk makes the approach pleasant.

A simple planting enhances the beauty of this modest new house. The lawn, the foundation planting and the trees all add to its beauty.

Gardens and The Defense Program

In these confused times gardening is an ideal method of escape from the mad confusion of things about us. Truly, there is something refreshing and inspiring to be derived from working in the soil. We do not want to be sentimental but we believe that you will get great benefits from close contact with nature.

In addition to the spiritual uplift which we all get from gardening, there is the added return of vegetables and flowers. Indeed, it gives all of us a great sense of pride to show our friends the fruits of our labor. So let's garden ardently this year to help keep our sense of balance.

War or no war, the ever-changing cycles of nature run their course. Each spring the flowering bulbs thrust their sturdy spikes of bloom through the moist earth. Early summer brings the Rose and the Larkspur and a hundred-and-one other favorites. Midsummer brings us pleasant days for outdoor living. Autumn with its glorious pageant of colors brings us gay annuals, brilliant Chrysanthemums and the changing foliage; the first hard frost puts an end to active growth. Each year this glorious cycle repeats itself undimmed by the madness of men.

A quiet retreat—just the place for a cup of tea, a light lunch or a hide-away where you can enjoy some new book.

A small formal garden within the bounds of a city lot which has been completely screened from the street and adjoining houses by shrubs and trees.

EVERGREENS

The planting of Evergreens about the home is one of the finest investments one can make. They increase in value and beauty each year as they grow into larger and finer specimens. There is nothing to equal the Evergreens for adding warmth, color, and background to the home and grounds.

We are always glad to submit estimates for landscaping on request.

HARDY PERENNIALS and ROCK-PLANTS

These old-fashioned, hardy flowers have won an important place in the gardens of most flower-lovers because of their varied formation and gorgeous range of color. Year after year they are among the first flowers to greet us in the spring, with renewed vigor after the winter rest, and the last flowers to leave us in the fall.

Considering the countrywide trend toward economy, the perennial garden, in the long run, is the most economical garden to plant because once planted it eliminates the expense of replanting every year. Many varieties are useful as cut-flowers. They need very little care outside of weeding and cultivation. After the first hard frost, cut the tops down and cover with a good coat of well-rotted manure.

Plants of the following varieties are fine, strong, nursery-grown stock, with the exception of a few that are best transplanted from pots, and will bloom abundantly this year.

Six plants of one variety at dozen rate; 25 at 100 rate

R following the name of a plant indicates that it is suitable for the rock-garden; R* that it is large enough to be grown on the edge of the hardy border as well as in the rock-garden

FLASH

FLOWERING SHRUBS are an important part of every well-planned garden. Not only do they provide an abundance of color, but their plentiful foliage furnishes a background for other features in the garden. The uses of Flowering Shrubs in the average home-garden have not been exhausted by any means. Very often they make delightful informal hedges. Some kinds are admirably suited to the foundation planting and others can be trained to assume the stature of small trees.

AZALEAS contribute the dominant note of color in this small formal garden. Evergreens and vines help to enrich the background and soften the wall which encloses it. A small fountain, accentuated by a graceful figure, is the central feature of this delightful garden. Throughout the summer months there is little color here, but the coolness of the many green shades is pleasing and restful.

HERE is an example of good taste in design, and yet the treatment is relatively simple. Four clipped cedars frame the enclosed porch which terminates the access of this delightful vista. Annuals and perennials provide an abundance of color in the borders throughout the summer months.

A SPECIMEN flowering tree, perhaps a Flowering Crab (like the one illustrated above), a Flowering Cherry, a Magnolia, a Dogwood or a Hawthorn, can be used to advantage as a decorative feature and a source of shade in almost any garden. In addition to an abundance of color in spring, there is an additional source of color provided by showy fruits in autumn.

RHODODENDRONS, well grown and well placed, are always a striking feature in the landscape. So varied are they in color that it is always possible to find your favorite shade. If you prepare the soil well for them, making sure of an ideal condition of acidity, you will have good results.

HYBRID TEA OR EVERBLOOMING ROSES

These are the most popular of all Roses because of their ever-blooming habit and variety of color. We have always made a special effort to deliver extra-fine, strong, budded plants direct to the customer from our nursery where they are grown. This insures fresh, vigorous plants that will thrive and bring much joy and satisfaction to the grower. It has been very gratifying to receive many favorable comments regarding the type of Rose plants we have delivered to satisfied customers in the past.

Roses like a deep bed of about 12 to 14 inches of good soil, with well-decayed manure spaded in. Set bushes 1½ to 2 feet apart, placing them so that the junction of branches and root is just covered with soil. All classes of Roses should be pruned back severely to about 6 to 8 inches when planted.

Protect Hybrid Teas in the winter by hilling the soil up around the plants and covering with a litter of strawy manure or leaves. Be sure to remove this early in spring.

USUALLY we call the plantings around our homes and doorways the foundation planting. In early days the plants at the entrance made what was known as the dooryard garden. Perhaps if we think of this important part of the home-grounds as a garden, we will give a little more thought to the plants which we select for it. After all, the purpose of any foundation planting is to enhance the beauty of the house and to help tie it in with the surrounding landscape.

This simple dooryard planting is composed primarily of broad-leaved evergreens pleasingly combined with conifers. Good-sized hollies flank the door and rhododendrons, laurel, azaleas, taxus in several forms, together with a shapely hemlock at the corner, make a pleasing picture. Let us help you with the plantings around your home.
